From the Principal's desk

Dear Students, Parents and Caregivers,

It is hard to believe that we are already past the halfway point of Term 2. Over the past two weeks, our school community has been involved in many wonderful experiences and opportunities. Reflecting on these events, I feel incredibly proud of the positive way our students continue to engage in their learning and represent our school.

Below is a snapshot of recent highlights and upcoming events.

Highlights from the Last Two Weeks

- Police Visit – 19 May Alex Patterson, senior constable from the Bairnsdale Police Department visited Cann River P–12 College to speak with students about safety. The session provided students with valuable insights into both personal and online safety, while also helping them better understand the important role police services play within our community. A big thank you to Kelly Edebohls for organising this event.
- Agriculture Excursion – 21–22 May Brooke Connley and Claire Pardew represented the school exceptionally well during the VCE Agriculture Excursion to Latrobe University in Bundoora. The experience provided students with valuable insight into future study and career pathways within agriculture. Thank you to Jade Hodges for organising and supporting our students throughout the excursion.
- Reconciliation Week Visit – 25 May As part of Reconciliation Week, Aileen Mongta-Blackburn visited our school to speak with students about the meaning and importance of reconciliation. It was a fantastic opportunity for students to listen, learn and engage in thoughtful discussion. Thank you, Aileen, for sharing your wisdom and time with us. We look forward to seeing again soon.

Secondary District Event – 25 May Our secondary students represented the school with pride at the Secondary District event held in Lakes Entrance. Congratulations to Rory Begg, Seth Buckland, Jacque Renaut, Chrissy Maragos, Nick Maragos and Elliott Pardew for their outstanding efforts and sportsmanship. A big thank you to Tammy Grubestic for training and organising the team.

Upcoming Events

- 1 June – Prep–2 Local Services Excursion: Police Station
- 1 June – Years 7–10 Mountain Bike Program – Gravity, Eden
- 3 June – Attitudes to School Survey (AtoSS)
- 3 June – Prep–2 Local Services Excursion: Bush Nurse
- 4 June – Secondary Regional Cross Country
- 5 June – Prep–2 Local Services Incursion: Ambulance Visit
- 9–10 June – Years 9–12 Canberra Camp
- 12 June – Prep–2 Excursion to LLP at the Snowy River Campus

As always, thank you for your ongoing support and partnership as we continue through the term together.

Warm regards,

Thomas Hubble

Kinder days

What we have been up to at kinder...

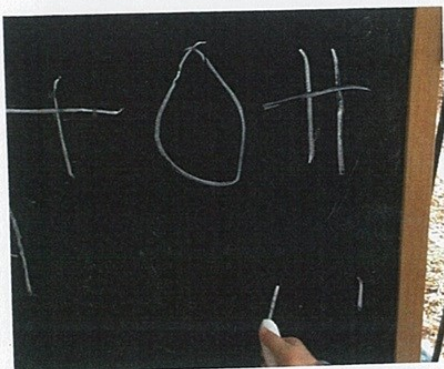

We investigated what happens when we mix red and yellow together and discovered the new colour we could create.

We traced around our bodies and decorated our self-portraits with creativity and care.

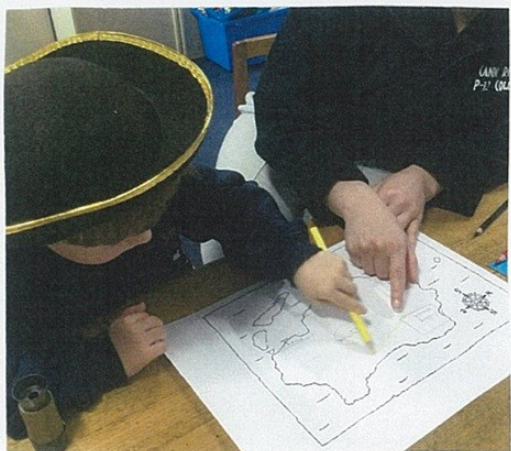

We explored a variety of construction materials and experimented with different ways to build and create.

We enjoyed collaborating and sharing ideas together at the playdough table.

We have been practising writing our names and developing confidence in our early writing skills.

Learning Story - Treasure Map Adventure

Today, a wonderful adventure unfolded when a Hugh enthusiastically created a treasure map for his friends to follow. With great concentration and excitement, he carefully designed a path on the map, thoughtfully adding directions and clues to guide the other children towards the hidden treasure.

Once the map was complete, he proudly buried the treasure in the sandpit and invited the other children to join the game. The children eagerly studied the map together, discussing where they thought the clues would lead them. They worked cooperatively as they followed the pathway drawn on the map, searching carefully for signs and landmarks along the way.

Hugh watched with excitement and anticipation as his peers followed his map. When the treasure was finally discovered, the children celebrated together with smiles, laughter and a strong sense of accomplishment. They also enjoyed eating the treasure that they had discovered.

Bush Nurse Centre 100 years

Before the shinning new Bush Nursing Centre, Before the new technology.
Before cars. There were horses, no technology and a small house just across the road from the building we have today.

The house across the road from the Bush Nursing Centre opened in 1928.

In 1963 the house was sold to Ida Hadfield. Soon they bought the one we have now which used to be yellow until they painted it grey. The room we were in had a door with a magnolia painted on it.

We also can't forget about the real life savers; the horses.

The horses carted up and down Victoria taking all the nurses to save lives.

But we can't forget the tools they also used, they had medicine for people who were sick or just a little down.

THE PAST OF THE BUSH NURSE

What do the photographs and objects tell you about nursing in the past?

Well, they saved people that could be nearly dying or possibly injured.

It would have been stressful for them and challenging.

It the olden days the nurses got to the injured by horseback. Nowadays they get to them by a vehicle.

Also, the Governor General, Mr John Landy had written a letter to Mrs Mary Filmer, for the kind hospitality when he visited in 2004, which is very interesting.

Bush Nurse Excursion

by Alyssa

We went down to the bush nurse to see the people who help us in Cann River. I discovered that this place is old, 104 is how old the Cann River Bush Nurse is.

I got really interested in this article about Betty Hardy she suffered from exhaustion and collapse on the beach, her heart stopped, she was carried to the Cann River Bush Nurse, she was only 16 years old.

The old Bush Nurse was across the street, cool right? The older days would probably be rough because their equipment is very old and they had these cool old tools that helped a lot but now there a lot of more and fancy devices. All the staff there are lovely and help every day, working 24/7, well not really 24/7 they take turns, but everyone helps, it was really cool. All the articles are cool, and I would like to thank the nurses for letting us come to the bush nurse and letting us learn about Cann River Bush Nurse.

FUN FACT: Did you know the old bush nurse used to be yellow, not a great colour could be red or any other colour.

The Bush Nurse

The original bush nurse is just across the street from the new one. It was started to be built In 1922 and was finished in 1928. The new bush nurse is still old, but the original colour was orange they used to call it baby poo orange.

The nurses used to sleep in tents. I wondered what it would be like back then? I saw some old glass needles.

27/05/2026 hope you like my recap

By: Jordan goodbye

The Cann River Bush nurse

What do you think life have would been like for nurses in those times? Not good, and it would have been hard work.

I discovered that without nurses people will die easily because it takes a long time for doctors to come to your place in time.

I wondered if they were no nurses every will die because no one is going to help how ever is going to die.

I learnt in Cann River we are very fortunate because we have a nurse that is on call all of the time.

Ages ago, the nurses had to work harder because people got hurt even more than they do today because they were outdoors more than what they are today. It also took longer to get to them, due to the nurses not having cars as they either walked, rode a horse or used a horse and cart.

By James

Nursing Before Machines

Back in the day, nurses had to do every job by hand. They rode horses to reach sick people and used a horse and cart to move patients. They checked heartbeats with simple tools, sometimes even just their hands, wrote everything on paper and cleaned equipment using heat and soap.

Today, nurses use modern machines to transport patients safely with things like ambulances and helicopters, store health data with laptops and check vitals with monitors. They also use devices that measure oxygen levels, track heart rate over time and help lift patients without hurting anyone. These tools help nurses work faster, safer and with more accuracy, while giving them more time to focus on caring for people.

MARY FILMER

Mary was working at the Bush Nurse Centre for about FORTY-THREE years! Also, Mary has spent about half her life in the Cann River area. She used to live at the post office in Cann River with her family, she also went to Cann River P-12 College school. Something Mary said: a bunch of flowers from someone's garden can make all the difference. Mary worked at the old yellow- brown bush nurse for a year.

STEAM Camp Years 9/10.

On Tuesday 21st April 2026 – Thursday 23rd April 2026, students went to a camp staying at Federation University, Churchill. They participated in sessions at Gippsland Technical School to use a computer program called OnShape and do soldering. Students from Swifts Creek P-12 College and Orbost Community School also participated in this camp.

The students who participated from Cann River will work together in order to complete a remote underwater vehicle. The vehicles from the three schools will have a race at the end of term 3 at Swifts Creek.

The students were very resilient in learning about the OnShape program and successfully designed parts of the vehicle. Soldering and wiring the motors to the central circuit board was also completed successfully.

Bushfire research strengthens Victorian preparedness and response

New bushfire research to review fire behaviour during major bushfires in western Victoria in February 2024 has identified important learnings for future bushfire preparedness and management.

Bushfire scientists from CFA and Forest Fire Management Victoria (FFMVic), through the Safer Together program, have reconstructed five bushfires from the 2023-24 fire season, including the Bayindeen – Rocky Road, Mt Stapylton, Bellfield, Staffordshire Reef and Dereel bushfires.

The reconstructions strengthen CFA and FFMVic's science and learnings across fire behaviour, modelling, suppression and overall management effectiveness to improve how we prepare for and manage major fires.

Researchers examined fires that burned more than 28,000 hectares and interacted with areas that had undergone planned burning in the past five years.

FFMVic Chief Fire Officer Chris Hardman said reconstruction reports are essential for understanding fire behaviour in real conditions and improving how agencies manage bushfire risk and are part of an annual program of research that fire agencies collaborate on.

"These reports help us learn directly from major fires and understand what worked, what was challenged and where we can improve," Mr Hardman said.

Researchers looked at how fuel treatments, the landscape, weather and firefighting efforts affected how the fires spread and how severe they became. This included on-the-ground observations, aerial infrared imagery, fuel moisture data and new 3D mapping technology.

Overall, research from the Bayindeen – Rocky Road fire found that fuel management can make a real difference during major fires by slowing or moderating fire behaviour in some parts of the landscape and creating safer conditions for firefighters.

"The research shows fuel-reduced areas can support decision-making during a fire by giving crews more options on the ground," Mr Hardman added.

When fire moved into areas that had been treated by planned burning, researchers found lower fire severity, suggesting that fire behaviour was less intense. Experienced crews on the ground reported that those treated areas made it safer and easier for firefighters to work closer to the fire edge, slow or stop the fire, and establish containment lines.

The research also observed lower fire severity in treated areas in parts of the fire footprint. This included reduced canopy scorch and char height compared with nearby untreated areas. These patches of lower severity fire can help reduce longer-term ecological damage and support environmental recovery.

The reports highlight variability in the effectiveness of planned burning, influenced by factors such as fire behaviour at the time of interaction, time since treatment, fuel regrowth and weather. This reinforces the need for ongoing research and continual improvement in how fuel management is planned and delivered.

The reports also reviewed how fire danger ratings and bushfire simulators performed. Those insights will help refine modelling, risk assessment and operational planning.

"By combining field data with operational experience, we're strengthening the evidence that underpins both fuel management and fire response," Mr Hardman said.

Call the DEECA Media team on 03 8624 3400 or email media@deeca.vic.gov.au

CFA Deputy Chief Officer Alen Slijepcevic AFSM said reconstruction reports ensure lessons from major bushfire events are recorded and shared across the sector so that we continually improve mitigation, planning and operations.

"By combining field data with operational experience, we're strengthening the evidence that underpins both fuel management and fire response," Mr Slijepcevic said.

"Each reconstruction helps build a clearer picture of how fire behaves under extreme conditions.

"This work is critical to improving preparedness, supporting firefighters during incidents and making Victoria more resilient ahead of future fire seasons."

Winter road and track closures across public land

Visitors to Victoria's parks and forests are being reminded that majority of the seasonal road and track closures will begin from 11 June, following the King's Birthday long weekend.

The temporary closures make it safer for motorists and reduce damage to remote roads and tracks that are vulnerable to winter conditions, including heavy rain and snow.

Each year, Forest Fire Management Victoria, Parks Victoria, and the Conservation Regulator enforce road and track closures across public land from May through to November.

Authorised officers will be educating visitors about the upcoming changes in busy parks and forests during the King's Birthday long weekend, followed by increased patrols and surveillance over the 2026 closure period.

In 2025, Parks Victoria Authorised Officers issued 200 infringement notices under the Conservation (Vehicle Control) Regulations including for driving cars or riding trail bikes illegally off-road or in restricted areas.

Anyone caught driving or riding on a closed road in Victoria's parks and forests face a maximum penalty of up to $4,070 if prosecuted in court.

Before heading out, visitors are advised to check local road and track closures and weather conditions.

For more information about public land road closure, visit fm.vic.gov.au/permits-and-regulations/closures-of-parks-and-forests

For emergency information, including severe weather warnings, download the VicEmergency app. Environmental crime can be reported to Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Quotes attributable to Chris Hardman, Chief Fire Officer, Forest Fire Management Victoria:

"Winter is a great time to experience our parks and forests, but road closures are in place for a reason. Respecting closed roads and tracks helps keep visitors and emergency services workers safe and prevents unnecessary damage."

Quotes attributable to Acting Chief Conservation Regulator Callie Donaldson:

"Driving on closed roads in wet conditions can damage sensitive environments, as well as the tracks themselves. Our Authorised Officers patrol forests during the closure period to make sure drivers and riders follow vehicle rules and stay off closed roads."

Quotes attributable to Chris Mercier, Manager, Enforcement Capability, Parks Victoria:

"Seasonal road closures are needed to protect both parks users and the environment when roads become slippery and unsafe."

FFMvic Media: 03 8624 3400 or media@deeca.vic.gov.au
