Principal's Message

We had a GREAT week of school here at Lindenow South Primary last week as the students celebrated Book Week 2022. Thank you to Ms McIntosh and Jenny for organising posters, activities, and the bookmarks and lollies for each student.

I wanted to congratulate Oliver and Kaelen who dressed up as their favourite book characters and won Best Dressed at our school book week parade. Well done to all students who dressed up and enjoyed a fun-filled day.

I would like to thank Troy, Lucia's dad who hung the new stickers on our basketball rings and turned the rings around for our students to use. As a basketballer and basketball coach for most of my life, I look forward to getting out and having a game with students at lunchtime. Thanks, Troy!

Lastly, I wanted to share how wonderful it was to see our school staff, and students sharing lunch together last Friday. The lunch was prepared in the cooking class with Jenny, Sarah, and the students. A real school family moment, it's these moments that make magical memories for all.

BOOK WEEK WINNERS

Congratulations to Oliver from the Junior Room and Kaelen from the Senior Room. The boys were the school's best-dressed characters after parading their costumes as part of the school Book Week Parade.

WHAT'S BEEN HAPPENING IN OUR JUNIOR CLASSROOM?

This week the juniors have been busy writing letters in their literacy block. On Tuesday, on the way back from the swimming program all junior students had the opportunity to post their letters themselves. We all can't wait to hear about the letters arriving at their homes. Well done, Juniors!

Senior Art

In Senior Art, with Sarah, the students have been learning about the artwork of Franck Slama

Franck Slama, better known as Invader, creates characters from tiles that he sticks everywhere: the Space Invaders. He is a French street artist you need to know. He remains anonymous and nobody has ever seen his face.

You can find out more about Frank and his artwork at <https://www.space-invaders.com/>

This week the students made their own space invader tiles and will place them around the school. Keep your eyes open as you wander through the school grounds and see if you can spot one of our school space invaders.

Congratulations to Tray Mobourne and Zachary Murphy this week's 'Student of Week' winners.

As a whole school, we love learning together and playing together.

Last week students organised games in the yard for everyone to participate in. The whole school cooked and shared lunch together. Jackson made his book week costume with the help of students and staff and during inquiry learning, we learn together as one big school family.
